HEZEKIAH THE GOOD KING.

International Sunday-School Lesson for June 7, 1891. [Specially Arranged from S. S. Quarterly.] Lesson Text-2 Chron. 29: 1-11. GOLDEN TEXT-Them that honor Me I will honor.-1 Sam. 2: 30.

CENTRAL TRUTH-A revival of true religion

CENTRAL TRUTH—A revival of true religion is fruitful in blessings.

TIME—B. C. 726-697, the period of Hezekiah's reign. Hezekiah began to reign 114 years after the death of Joash.

PLACE—Judah and Jerusalem.

RULERS—Hoshea was king of Israel for the first six years of Hezekiah. Shalmanezer IV. was king of Assyria at the beginning of Hezekiah's reign, 727-729; then Sargon, 722-735, and then Sennacherib, 736-631. Rome was founded 753. PROPHETS-Nahum, 720-098. Isaiah, 750-098. Micah, 750-7.0. A considerable part of Isalah's prophecies belong to this reign.

Cornesponding Bible History — Hezeki sh's reign is recorded in 2 Chron., cln. 20-32; 2 sh's reign is recorded in 2 Chron., chs. 29-32; 2 Kings 18-91; isa. 35-23. A large part of Isaiah, chs. 10, 11, 29-21, 23-23. A large part of Isaiah, chs. 10, 11, 29-21, 23-33-20, belong to this reign. Helps Over Hand Places.—1. "Hezekiah," the thirteenth king of Judah, was the sen of Ahaz. "His mother's name" is mentioned probably to express her influence for good over the king. "Daughter of Zechariah," probably Isaiah's friend (Isa. 8:2); the same man who was an influential counsellor of Hezekiah's grandfather Uzziah. (? Chron. 21:5.) 3. "First month" of the year: Nisan, our March or April. "Opened the doors:" which Ahas closed. (23:21.) 7. "The larges:" or the golden candlestick, from which all the light of the temple came; a symbol of God's life and lightcandlestick, from which all the light of the temple came; a symbol of God's life and light-giving nature; of the warmth, cheer, beauty, and blessing which shine from His nature. 8, "Delivered them to trouble:" The Philistines took possession of a large portion of the kingdom; the sacred treasures of the temple were sent as tribute to the king of Assyria. (See 9 Kings 16; 2 Chron. 28.) 10. "Make a covenant:" a solemn renewal of the original covenant in the wilderness. (Exod. 24:3-8.) A like renewal was made by Asa, Josiah and Nehemiah.

LESSON COMMENTS.

LESSON COMMENTS. Amid all the degeneration in Israel and Judah, we feel, on reaching this lesson, as though we had arrived at an oasis in the desert. Ahaz, the father of Hezekiah, was utterly bad in all his ways; but, fortunately for Judah, he son our lesson calls attention; and that the subject may be presented to the scholars somewhat more fully than is done in the verses that form our lesson for the day, we shall take in more of his life than these verses give us.

He began aright. In the very first year of his reign he opened the doors of the house of the Lord, that his father had closed, and at once instituted a series of reforms that were much needed. The French say: "It is the first step that costs," and our king took that first step in the right direction. Thus in his future life he had no back tracks to take.

He continued well. Reformation in Jerusalem alone did not satisfy him, Though in all Judah the influence of this religious monarch was quickly felt, so that all godly people rejoiced with him, he was not content with this. There in the north lay their sister tribes, that were in evil state as regarded their religious condition. So Hezekiah started a missionary movement in that direction, and sent out "posts" to try and recall Israel to her allegiance to Jehovah. That these "posts" were scornfully treated was not Hezekiah's fault, for he did his best, and that was all that he was responsible for. Yet some were touched and converted (see 2 Chron. 30:11). Then followed a great religious gathering and revival in Jerusalem ..

He kept on continuing well. Many a man has begun well, and then after awhile has lost his enthusiasm, and has stopped his good work. Not so this king; he stuck to his good purpose. 2 Chron. 31:1 tells of this, and the secret of it all is given in 2 Chron, 31:21, where we read that in all religious duty, he "did it with all his heart."

Therefore God prospered him. Of course this was the result, for God had many times promised that he would give prosperity to those who obeyed His commandments. Under his rule, Judah recovered much of her ancient fame, and the promises to those who would "observe to do all that Moses had commanded," were fulfilled.

Surely the application of a lesson like this is not hard. It says:

Begin well. Sowing wild onts is utter folly, for all such sowing must be followed by reaping that which you have sown. Many a bad beginning makes a bad ending, and the secret of ruin must often be sought for in the youth of the one who has gone to destruction. As the twig is bent, so the tree grows. But you may begin well, and yet not Keep on well. How sadly true this is every Sunday-school superintendent can bear witness. Some of the most promising scholars, who, perhaps, have taken all the prizes ever offered by the school, turn out badly in the end. They did run well, who did hinder them? It may be that bad companionship was the cause, or that the reading of vile literature lay at the root of all their evil courses, but the fact remained the same, they gave good promise, but they failed to fulfill it at the last. Alas! for those bright lives that dawned so hopefully, and then went out in darkness.

Continue to keep on. David sinned in his old age, and old Christians may backslide as well as young ones. None are too old to be out of danger. As riches increase, some learn to set their hearts on them, and so become avaricious, and lapse into practical idolatry. Others become spiritually lazy, and shirk work that they could do as well as, if not better, than when they were young. There are sins of old age as well as sins of youth, and the one set are as bad as the other. We sing, "Fight on, my soul, till death," and we have good reason to sing and pray the same thing. "He that endureth to the end, the same shall be saved."-Rev. A. F. Schauffler, D. D.

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS. 1. A young man may be good even if his circumstances are bad. 2. The first need of men and of nations is a revival of religion. 3. There is a divine and also a human instrumentality in every work of grace.

4. The evil must be destroyed, idols cast out, bad habits put away, bad business forsaken. 5. Good must be implanted, the means of grace used, instruction given, meetings held, preaching, singing, inviting others.

6. A revival promotes all good qualities and actions.

A RACE OPPRESSED

Russia's Brutal Treatment of the Stories of Extreme Suffering Told by the Miserable Fugitives from Tyranny.

MAN'S INHUMANITY.

BERLIN, May 29.-The Hebrew relief committee here has secured a long rail vay tunnel at Charlottenburg in which to shelter Russian Jews en route to Hamburg for embarkment. Boxes of clothing and necessaries, enormous boilers of tea and coffee and supplies of bread and brandy are in readiness to relieve the misery of the crowds of fugitives that daily pour out of the railway trains. Many heart-rending scenes are described and tales are told of extreme suffering. Many of the fugitives had to leave on a day's notice and were compelled to abandon everything but what they stood in, while others, often octogenarians who are hardly able to walk, are seen staggering under sacks containing all their worldly possessions. In many cases the fugitives are of the poorest classes, with numerous scantily-dressed children tagging at their mothers' skirts and crying for bread. All are shy and suspicious, remembering their ill treatment at Russian railway stations, and fear fresh torments and privations if they enter the waiting rooms. A doctor attends the children who are ill from the effects of the journey. The fugitives describe how the streets in which they lived would be suddenly cordoned with the police searching for Jews, who would fly to the synagogues for safety; how the doors of the synagogue would be wrenched off and troops of armed men would tie their hands and feet and plunder everything in the place, and how on arriving at the frontier the police would extort fresh bribes to allow them to cross.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

The Boller of an Indiana Sawmill Bursts, Killing One Man and Injuring FRANKFORT, Ind., May 29 .- Frankfort was the scene of a terrible disaster Thursday afternoon. The large boiler at P. E. Kramer's sawmill exploded with appalling results. Frank Hall, the engineer, was instantly killed, and William Davis, Eric Koontz, Benjamin Keys and Van Swarengen were fatally injured. Of the thirteen men employed in the mill scarcely one escaped without more or less injury. Others are suffering from broken limbs and scalds and it is difficult to determine the exact extent of their injuries. The explosion took place shortly after 3 o'clock and the mill is a complete wreck, debris being scattered about for a radius of 200 yards. The cause of the explosion is not known, the boiler having been pronounced safe and insured only a week ago. One of the employes says that he looked at the guage only a few minutes before the ex-plosion and it showed plenty of water. The bodies of some of the men were frightful to look upon. The engineer was mutilated beyond recognition, his clothing torn from him and his body literally cooked by the steam.

CHRISTIAN WORKERS.

Preparations for Their Annual Summer Convocation at Western Springs, Ill. CHICAGO, May 29. - Arrangements have been perfected for the annual summer convocation of Christian workers, under the auspices of the Christian alliance, which is to be held at Western Springs, a suburb of this city. The session will continue for ten daysfrom June 19 to June 28, inclusive. Phe musical exercises will be conducted by Miss F. L. Shepard, of New York city. The following ministers and workers are a few among those who are expected to be present and take part in the exercises:

Tents, and provisions, 211

Tents and provisions will be furnished those who attend at moderate prices. Immediately following the ten days' convocation there will be held, during July and August, at Bethany Bible institute (located on the convocation grounds) a Christian workers' summer Bible school.

CHARGED TO THE KNIGHTS. The Labor Organization Held Responsible for the Eight-Hour-Day Failure.

New York, May 29.-An address is soon to be sent out by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, signed by Samuel Gompers, P. J. McGuire, William H. Carney, John All Patent Medi
B. Lennon and Chris. Evans, directed to the organized wageworkers of America. The address will open with this statement: "It becomes our painful duty to officially inthis paper are sold by Garrett Brothform you, what you undoubtedly already informally know, that the United Mine Workers have receded from their position and declared the eight-hour demand of the coal miners off." The history of the miners' strike is reviewed and the failure is charged to the Knights of Labor, to which the miners largely belonged.

Threaten to Hombard Valparaiso. Panis, May 29.—Dispatches received here from Chili state that the insur-gents, contrary to their promises, now threaten to bombard the city of Valparaiso. In view of these threats the present defenses of Valparaiso are being hurriedly strengthened. In the threat-ened city and in Paris it is believed that the foreign powers will intervene should the insurgents attempt to carry out the threat of bombardment.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undirected poissoning the gested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia,
Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly
